Comagine Health

Reimagining health care, together.

Research & Evaluation

Comagine Health collaborates with academic, government and nonprofit partners to conduct research and evaluation studies designed to inform program, community and policy improvements. The Comagine Health Research and Evaluation team was established in 2012 with a mission to bridge the research-to-practice gap and advance studies that promote health and well-being in the context of communities' unique needs and challenges.

Our areas of study

- Substance use disorder prevention, treatment and recovery
- Health care systems and practice change interventions
- Harm reduction and overdose and infectious disease prevention
- Epidemiology, community health and social determinants

We prioritize community-responsive and collaborative study designs. We bring to our study partnerships

- Strong relationships with health systems, clinics and community-based organizations.
- Versatile team skills and flexible staffing to adapt to evolving study needs.
- Ability to expand partners' capacity, reach, dissemination and impact.
